The Benefits of a Weatherized Home

ENERGY COSTS SAVINGS

WATER COST SAVINGS

LESS OUT-OF-POCKET
HEALTH COSTS

LOWER LOAN INTEREST PAYMENTS

- Weatherization returns $2.78 in health & safety related benefits for every $1 invested.
- After Weatherization, families' out-of-pocket medical expenses decreased by an average of $514 annually.
- Reducing energy costs means families have more money to spend on food, medicine & other essentials.
- Weatherization mitigates asthma triggers like mold. Residents of weatherized homes report fewer asthma symptoms and hospitalizations after receiving services.
- Children missed fewer school days after their homes received Weatherization services.
- In addition to weatherization services, many local weatherization agencies mitigate slip/trip/fall hazards, and other known potential hazards such as lead, carbon monoxide, and fire prevention/safety.

The History of the Weatherization Assistance Program

October marks the 45th anniversary of the Department of Energy's Weatherization Assistance Program, which provides funding to states, territories, and tribal governments to improve the energy efficiency of the homes of low-income families, persons with disabilities, and senior citizens. The Weatherization Assistance Program has successfully weatherized more than 7 million American homes to date.

The program was born out of the 1973 oil crisis, when unemployment and energy prices were exceptionally high. Energy conservation measures emerged as one of the nation's top priorities. In 1976, Congress passed the Energy Conservation Policy Act and the Weatherization Assistance Program was born.

The first decade saw weatherization crews focus on fundamentals of air sealing: installing cellulose insulation and caulking, but as the program expanded its services in the 1980s and 1990s, so did understanding of the treating the building as an entire system. New testing technologies such as infrared cameras and blower doors allowed auditors to see into homes in a new and more intricate way.

Weatherization technicians recognized that a building's shell, appliances, and occupants all affected the safety and comfort of a home. This concept became known as the "whole-house" approach, and weatherization and home performance technicians use this approach today to ensure that all parts of the home work together to maximize efficiency, comfort, and health.

The Weatherization Assistance Program has evolved to become one of the most successful programs in the federal government concerning advancing an energy efficient economy. The program performs energy audits on each home to determine which measures are most cost-effective, and every dollar spent on weatherization improvements can return $1.53 in energy savings over the life of the measures.

KCEOC's Weatherization Assistance Program provides assistance to 12 counties in KY. The program was created to reduce energy waste, lower utility costs and assure the health and safety of low income residents. The Weatherization Assistance Program is funded, in part, under contract with Kentucky Housing Corporation with funds from the U.S. Department of Energy and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Eligibility for WAP is based on household income up to 200% of the current Poverty Income Guidelines. Applications are assigned a point value. Priority points are given to elderly, disabled applicants and households with small children. Applicants are served in order from highest to lowest priority points. Required documents to apply for assistance are proof of current income, copies of social security cards for all household members, copy of deed/mobile home title and prior 12 months utility consumption history.

OCTOBER IS HEAD START Awareness Month

THE HISTORY OF HEAD START

In 1964, the Federal Government asked a panel of child development experts to draw up a program to help communities meet the needs of disadvantaged preschool children. The panel report became the blueprint for Project Head Start. Project Head Start, launched as an eight-week summer program by the Office of Economic Opportunity in 1965, and was designed to help break the cycle of poverty by providing preschool children of low-income families with a comprehensive program to meet their emotional, social, health, nutritional, and psychological needs. Recruiting children age three to school entry age, Head Start was enthusiastically received by education, child development specialists, community leaders, and parents across the Nation. Head Start serves children and their families each year in urban and rural areas in all 50 States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Territories, including many American Indians and migrant children.

In 1969, Head Start was transferred from the Office of Economic Opportunity to the Office of Child Development in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and has now become the Office of Head Start, within the Administration on Children and Families in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

Although Head Start is thought to be one program by much of the public, Head Start actually consists of two programs: Head Start and Early Head Start. Head Start is a comprehensive early childhood development program primarily serving low-income preschool-age children and their families while Early Head Start was established during the 1994 Reauthorization of Head Start. Early Head Start is a comprehensive early childhood program serving primarily low-income children prenatal to age 3, pregnant women, and their families.

September is Hunger Action Month

In Kentucky, 644,540 people are facing hunger
179,030 are children

For tens of millions of people in America, a daily meal isn't a choice between different dishes. It's a choice between food and other crucial needs—like medicine, electricity, or childcare. This September, join us for Hunger Action Month in the fight to end hunger.

A few ways to help:

- Orange is the color of hunger. Let's stand together and stand out by wearing orange, putting orange ribbons on our homes and businesses.
- Support the Emergency Support Shelter, or Ryan's Place Youth Crisis Center, by donating food and/or household items.
- Donate to the Knox Co Senior Citizen's Center, which addresses food insecurity of the elderly population in Knox Co. at www.KCEOC.org/DONATE
- Advocate; we all need help sometimes. During the pandemic, more families are struggling than ever before. You can play an important role by letting your loves ones and neighbors know it's okay to ask for help and sharing where they can find support.
- Inspire; host a donation drive, volunteer, promote agencies that address food insecurity or share your success story to benefit others!

October is Domestic Violence Awareness & Prevention Month

Over 10 million adults experience domestic violence annually in the U.S., including physical, sexual, verbal, emotional, and economic abuse. Domestic violence accounts for 15% of all violent crime nationwide and domestic abuse hotlines receive approximately 19,000 calls per day.

Domestic violence is prevalent in every community, and affects all people regardless of age, socio-economic status, sexual orientation, gender, race, religion, or nationality.

STOP DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

Perpetrators commit acts of domestic violence against certain survivor populations at disproportionately high rates, including women, people of color, American Indian and Alaska Native (AAIN) women, trans individuals, people living with disabilities, and people experiencing low incomes – rates are even higher among individuals that identify as being in more than one of these groups. Children are also disproportionately affected, either by being subjected to or witnessing domestic violence, which can have traumatic, long-term negative effects, including serious health conditions, anxiety, and depression. Patterns of domestic violence also lead to lower-incomes among survivors due to trauma, job loss, lack of affordable housing, and the cost of legal services. Programs and services that prevent and respond to patterns of domestic violence are crucial to addressing the causes and conditions of poverty. Community Action Agencies (CAA) provide services that directly support survivors, including crisis counseling and intervention, support groups, housing assistance, and legal referrals. But all programs that increase opportunity and economic security for people experiencing low incomes empower them with options and help prevent physical, psychological, and economic abuse. As trusted messengers in their communities, CAAs can also raise awareness about domestic violence and educate community members about advocacy actions that will reduce violence and abuse.

HOUSED PEOPLE ARE NOT HOMELESS

Rapid Re-Housing (RRH) ends homelessness for families and individuals.

RRH HELPS

Rapid Re-Housing (RRH) is a set of strategies developed in coordination with an individual or family, to help them quickly move out of homelessness and into permanent housing. KCEOC Community Action Partnership will accept individuals and families into the ESG Rapid Re-Housing program who fall under HUD guidelines for homelessness and meet ESG criteria for services; participation in the RRH program is voluntary.

RRH does not have service participation requirements or preconditions to entry, the program is extremely low-barrier for those wishing to participate.

The only requirements for the program are:

- Participants must fall under HUD's Category 1 (street/shelter homeless) definition
- (OR) Participants must fall under HUD's Category 4 (domestic violence) definition for homelessness to be eligible for assistance.
